Monday 7th April 2014

5pm – 7pm

Got a good teaching tip? Want to be inspired? Then we want you!

CPD is fast becoming an expense that no school can afford. Those in the know, the real teachers, are the ones that hold the skills that we need to access, so why do we spend so little time listening to them?

Show and Tell will provide classroom teachers with a way of supporting colleagues, honing our skills and being inspired from the ground up. From this event you will be able to take away concrete tools, resources and ideas which will enhance your practice, that you can use tomorrow and which have a proven track record!

So what's the catch? Well, of course we need you to help us provide these fabulous ideas. We need your skills to give a 2 minute or 5 minute presentation of something that you have been using in your classroom. Anything from snappy starters to applying numeracy effectively across the curriculum.
